

TASTING BRIEF

NOVEMBER 17, 2023

THE DISTILLERY

Kilchoman Distillery was founded in 2005 and is the first distillery to be built on Islay for 124 years. It was founded by Anthony Wills and remains an independent, family run distillery. It is the smallest on the island but since obtaining Rockside Farm in 2015, is in the process of expanding. It is a farm distillery and a proportion of the barley used in production is grown and malted at the distillery. As well as being one of only a handful of distilleries still practicing floor malting, barley is also grown on the farm, making Kilchoman the only distillery to complete all parts of the whisky making process on site. They are a forerunner in reviving the tradition of single farm single malt scotch whisky.

KILCHOMAN
